

Just a reminder on how puppies are selected....

For the safety of our puppies, we don't allow visitors to view or interact with them before they have been vaccinated and ready to go to their new homes. In lieu of that, we will send out pictures of the puppies every week, keeping them in different color collars so you can keep track and watch them as they grow from week to week.

After the 6 week pictures go out, I will be calling the families on the waiting list, one by one, in the order their deposits came in. (I'll have one list for the females and one for the males if a litter has both genders.) At that time, we'll discuss any possible differences (coat colors, textures, size, temperament, etc.) that may help you make your decision. Pups will have had their exams, been microchipped, and have their puppy personality testing done. Once your selection is made, I will call the next family and so on....

When the pups are born, you will know who is getting a male and who is getting a female.

If the entire litter is of one gender, the puppies will be placed in the order the deposits came in; regardless of who requested which gender.

PLEASE REMEMBER THAT THE BREEDER RETAINS THE RIGHT TO KEEP ANY PUP BEFORE THE AGE OF 8 WEEKS. On occasion, I see a pup that I would like to keep for my breeding program. I don't keep a pup from every litter but I retain the right to do so if I find a pup to be a wonderful addition to my program.
